Barb,

The best of luck to a real swell gal. I hope you have the very best in the future. You are really a credit to Mercantile.

Micky.

Sorry I'm writing like this but I cannot spell right

Jean Paul

Best Wishes to a real cute and nice girl.

Carol Flinn

Loads of luck to the craziest gal alive. Best wishes to you and Jerry throughout the millions of years to come (If you live that long.) just stay as stupid as you are and I'm sure you will eventually become the most stupid girl around. Remember our dear old days at CHS and our better days at Mercantile. When you have nothing better to do, remember me. Hy,

A Pal,
Shirley Allison
"59"

Lots of Luck to a real swell girl. Never forget Sociology and all the fun we had.

Pat Ross

I hope you fine someone to kiss in the back,

Jerry

Almost three hundred years have passed since French explorers, accompanied by priests, sailed down the Mississippi River to the village of the Tamaroa Indians. The Indians received the priests and gave a feast in their honor. The Frenchmen in turn presented gifts to the Red Men. They worked out an agreement whereby the French would be aided in their attempts at settlement.

The first church in the Mississippi Valley was built in the Tamaroa Village impressive history

and dedicated to the Holy Family. The first baptism was the son of Michael Accult, a Frenchman. He married the daughter of a Kaskaskia Chief and became the first permanent settler of Cahokia, then called "Notre Dame de Kahokia."

In 1795 county government arrived. Governor Arthur St. Clair organized St. Clair County and made Cahokia the county seat until in 1814 it was moved to Belleville.

In 1844 the Mississippi River rose and flooded all the land from Alton to Kaskaskia causing many families to abandon Cahokia. A huge inland lake was formed by the flood waters, not receding for several months, and stretching thirty miles in length, ten miles in width, and from twenty to forty feet in depth. It completely covered the fertile Bottoms and tore from their foundations and completely submerged every structure built by human hands. The inhabitants of the village fled to the Bluffs and to St. Louis where sickness and disease followed and caused many deaths. Malaria was their chief enemy.

As the flood waters receded and the people returned to the devastated area, they found much new land had been added to the eastern shore of the Mississippi pushing the village of Cahokia farther away from the river.

With the flood the thriving community declined in importance and remained a small, obscure town until recent years. Since then, growth of the area has been steady enough to warrant the construction of buildings for business and public service interests. One of these buildings, Cahokia Junior and Senior High School, is a community landmark and an edifice deserving and receiving a great deal of community pride and respect.

Old Chiefs Return

We, the Cahochran staff, are escorting you on a tour through our school. In so doing we have invited to our school four little Indians, who were once Braves at Cahokia, to scout and record on these pages education and activities at Cahokia.

CHIEF KNOW NOTHING, Faculty Chief, known and feared for his mighty swing of the paddle, sneaked in to one of those wild teachers' meetings, stumbled out again with a satisfied smirk on his face but failed to disclose to his companions just what had taken place.

CHIEF KNOW IT ALL, Classes Chief, was once the champion spitwad thrower and terror of the halls, but was greatly admired by his fellow students for his wisdom and distinguished bits of philosophy.

CHIEF CHA-CHA Charlie, Activities Chief, one-time big wheel on the dance floor and student council president, dropped in at several club meetings and dances. He recalled his own mercenary antics—setting up the student council as a money-making organization by charging admission to the jive-hive, establishing a used-car lot in the parking area, and selling tickets to a drag race on the circle drive.

CHIEF FIGHTING SPIRIT, Sports Chief, returned to Cahokia's athletic field to reminisce about the days when he had been home-run king, when he scored twenty touchdowns in one football game, and when he made fifty points in one basketball game.

Featured in each of their respective sections, these four proud alumni will guide you through our school land. We intend the history recorded within this book to be the garnish to the events already encased in your memory.

DEDICATION

To the memory of Miss Helen Huffman the 1959 Cahochron staff wishes to dedicate this yearbook as a token of recognition of her untiring endeavors to boost Cahokia High School's extra-curricular activities and scholastic standards. As a glowing example of the ideal teacher, Miss Huffman devoted herself to the teaching profession never failing to hold uppermost in mind the welfare of her students. The school personnel and those students who had through attending her classes known her friendly smile, respected advice, and warm teaching personality were deeply saddened by her untimely death in the spring of 1958.

CHIEF KNOW NOTHING, administrator and faculty chief, formerly of the Cahokia Council, steers us down the congested highways of learning. For eight years the faculty and administrators have directed extra-curricular and academic traffic over the lanes of Cahokia High School hallways.

Students soon realize that their class schedules dictate to them the stop-and-go lights that must be regarded by all. It is the basic endeavor of our faculty and administrators to provide each student, who stops at the various departments of learning, an educational tool or a learning experience that will provide him fertile fields for future consideration. Our school hopes to prepare a student for future employment, additional academic training, or just pleasures of life.

This year, for the first time, the Cahochron staff has chosen to photograph the faculty in departmental groups. Chief Know Nothing acts as traffic director for this faculty and administration section.

FACULTY

Mr. Toby Hightower, Principal

Mr. Robert Cavitt, Assistant Principal

Teepee has new Hightower

After serving for five years as principal of the Vienna High School, Vienna, Illinois, Mr. Toby Hightower became our new principal at Cahokia High. Mr. Hightower attended Western Kentucky College from where he received a Bachelor of Science Degree and a Master of Science Degree. He has done post-graduate work at Southern Illinois University, and after winning science scholarships he has done further work at the University of Missouri and Baylor University.

Aiding our chief is his busy assistant, Mr. Robert Cavitt, who again served as assistant principal this year. While Mr. Cavitt sometimes tossed a heavy hand we did enjoy his pleasant and helpful efforts with our extra curricular activities and our school problems.

The education enterprise constitutes the building up of education tools. The responsibility for this collection of tools are delegated to the administrative offices of Mr. Ed Ruddy and Mr. Eugene Rodemich. Our paths of learning and future achievements are lighted along the way by our guidance director and our curriculum coordinator.

Miss Wilma House, Mrs. Helen Vogt, Mrs. Dee Sanders, and Mrs. Vrene Bess, secretaries, held down the office fort against the daily invasion of Comanches needing absence slips, passes and directions.

Board sought new reservations

When signals called by a Board of Education are transmitted, they are received by the earphones of a school superintendent. Our superintendents wearing the earphones were Mr. Aaron Brien and Mr. Robert Cattlet. These men accepted and performed the responsibilities of directing the policies and principles promulgated by our Board of Education. Directing the activities of the schools between Cahokia and Centerville called for expert decisions and good judgment for these men whose working hours do not end at sunset.

Of great concern to our superintendents and our Board of Education is the ever-increasing population within the community. In Cahokia this year's school requirements were not the same as those of last year. Our superintendents and Board are constantly looking for new grounds and new buildings to meet the necessary housing problems of our school community.

The members of the Board of Education led by the chief, Mr. Maurice Jerome, planned and controlled the business affairs of District No. 187. Their efforts of educational construction have added new beauty to our community and have caused a much greater interest in the improvements of our educational facilities.

To this group of wise councilmen who pointed the little Comanche warriors toward greater ideals in education we herein express our appreciation.

Mr. Aaron Brien, Superintendent

Mr. Robert Cattlet, Assistant Superintendent

Annual staff---well, we tried!

Do we have a meeting tonight? Got any theme ideas? How about changing the color of this year's cover? were some of the frequently heard questions from the 1959 Cahochron staff.

On Wednesdays at 3:00 the staff met in the publications room to discuss plans for this year's annual.

Mondays were set aside for meetings with the sales committee under the direction of Joyce Brown and under the supervision of Mr. Wirth, adviser. This day was also used for the extra meetings with our editor, Sharon Brown, other officers of the staff, and adviser, Mr. Mills, to make decisions concerning the theme, cover design, layouts, and the kind of type to be used in our book.

The professional assistance rendered by Mr. Norman Semmelroth, printer, and Mr. Harry Swain, engraver, was very much appreciated by the staff and the advisers. Credit for the photography in this year's annual goes to the Vincent Price Studios; the junior class photographers, Bob Ledbetter and Larry Oden; and Judy Farmer, our photograph editor.

The sports section this year under the direction of Bill Childers and Dennis Reed displays several new designs of layout. The staff takes a great deal of pride in the make-up and the design of the new cover.

As CHIEF KNOW IT ALL, Chief of classes, tours Cahokia High School, he recalls delightful memories of his own high school days —sunlight falling on the algebra pages, the smell of chalk in the air, the clock on the wall signalling ten minutes before lunch time. He flips the pages of his mental book of memories to the teacher at the desk or at the chalkboard skillfully and patiently trying to win the attention of the students who are dreaming of a future basketball game or their next date.

In his 1958-59 tour through Cahokia High, CHIEF KNOW IT ALL notes the increasing enrollment, and, turning from the bulging classrooms happily observes the framework of the new junior high building.

He finds that a student may enroll in the academic course, the business course, or the practical arts course. The Chief learns that there are accelerated math and science classes.

In the following section CHIEF KNOW IT ALL presents to you the classes of Cahokia High School.

Juniors filled the piggy bank

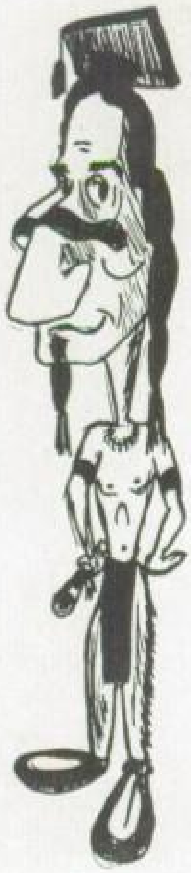
We, the seniors of 1959, have, indeed, a great deal to be proud of. In the past four years, we have passed through perhaps the most wonderful part of our lives. We are proud to have had the privilege of spending these years at Cahokia. When at last we hang up our moccasins for the final time, we will remember sadly, but also happily, the good times we had during these four years. It was not all fun, but through experience we learned there is a serious side to life, as well as the lighter side.

As freshmen we first had the privilege of attending tribal functions. But still, it was the seniors we looked up to and respected. Our turn would come.

Our sophomore year is truly one we will never forget. We tossed our offering—a piece of wood—into the tribal fire and became full-fledged Comanches. We now had the responsibilities of tribesmen.

"Rhapsody in Blue," our junior prom, was carried out in blue and silver. This was our greatest group accomplishment thus far. But we knew our greatest accomplishments were yet to come. Many nights were spent during football and basketball seasons working in our trading post to finance our prom.

At last we are seniors. We face the future with courage and high hopes. We are sorry to leave our beloved reservation, but we are even prouder to have reached the last rung of the ladder. For us, it is not the end, but the beginning; and as we say good-bye, we step aside to let the juniors become rulers of the reservation and of the Comanche heritage.



Seniors have key to future

The junior class of 1959 has accomplished a record that can be respected by those who follow. Through their co-operation and hard work they have been able to expand the interest of their class activities. Under the direction of their sponsors, Miss Shirley Erwin, Mr. Leslie Brumfield, Mr. Bill Orr, Mr. Bennie Harris, and Mr. Harrison Thomas they have participated in various activities with the idea of building their treasury.

The junior class took complete charge of the concession stands at both the football and the basketball games. They sold stationery with a sketch of our high school printed on it. The profits from these projects went toward their main goal—the staging of the junior-senior prom.

Homecoming was truly a memorable occasion for them. Although they spent many hours decorating their float for the parade, their work was not in vain. Their Victory Ship rewarded them with a first place in the Homecoming Parade.

The crowning of the new 1958 Homecoming Queen also brought honor to the junior class because Miss Beverly Wyrick, a junior, was crowned queen. Later, at Christmastime, the junior class was proud to have Miss Judy Neuf crowned F. H. A. Sweetheart Queen at the annual Christmas Dance.

Aside from the recreation and activities the juniors had a more serious job—that of fulfilling their desire to acquire an education. And finally in April, the receiving of their class rings was a cause for great excitement.

As the year ended the juniors had only one more year to complete; they will be stepping into the whole new and exciting world of a senior.

Sophs escaped initiation

At their first meeting in the Fall of 1958 the Sophomore class elected their new class officers. They chose Mike Sweigert as their president. Judy Brown became their vice-president and Pat Demetrulias was chosen to represent them as their secretary-treasurer. The new sophomores eagerly began work on their Homecoming float which they labeled "David and Goliath." Committees were appointed, and under the supervision of Miss Iona Masten the float was completed and entered in the parade.

Since the sophomore class initiation has been abolished, all the new papooses had a pleasant time at the Comanche bonfire and snake dance which this year replaced the sophomore initiation. The sponsors for the sophomore class were Mr. Joe Konya and Miss Iona Masten.

Tenth grade is challenged

To the problems of the yearbook staff in publishing this annual we must add this page. Our specific problem is lack of material to fill the space. The staff has exhausted their storehouse of ideas; the editor has long since torn out her hair; and the sponsors were so frustrated with lack of copy that page 35 threatened to be blank. However, our engraver volunteered to blow-up the sophomore Indian nearly to life-size, and our printer stated that he might use large letters in the type. This helps to alleviate our problem, but we are wondering if in future years our printer and engraver will be so cooperative.

What we really are trying to say is if future sophomore classes would like an opening page to introduce their class, the yearbook staff would appreciate their having more colorful activities about which we can produce more journalistic talent than is displayed in these paragraphs.

Cahokia Curriculum Provides for Vocations or College

A full day in the lives of Cahokia students is seldom dull.

The day at school for a senior high student starts with first hour at 8:00. In the business department, sophomores, juniors, and seniors might be seen in general business, typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, business law, or office machines.

Second hour begins with the arrival of junior high students. After racing to their lockers, searching through stacks of books and papers for the necessary paraphernalia for their first class, these little papooses rush to class. A few eighth and ninth graders may be found in algebra, while most are found in arithmetic class. Sophomores, juniors, and seniors might be in geometry, advanced algebra, or trigonometry.

Anyone happening to pass through the music department during the third hour would hear the playing of familiar masterpieces by the senior high band, or if his taste was more inclined to vocal music, he might listen to the harmonious melodies of the senior high choir. They can also participate in the talented junoir high band or ninth grade chorus.

If, at the beginning of the fourth hour, you see a rush of junior high students headed for the gym for their P. E. classes, you will know that a very exciting basketball game is about to start. Other junior high students may be going to the health room to discuss their health projects. While these junior high students are headed for an hour of work and play, the senior high students are headed for an hour of lunch and relaxation.

After an enjoyable lunch, senior high students can be seen in their fifth hour English class struggling with diagramming, split infinitives, and other puzzling riddles of the English language. Junior high students meanwhile are also fighting their way through the jungle of nouns, verbs, and pronouncs. If language is to your liking, you also have the privilege of taking French, Latin, and Spanish.

If you smell an odor similar to that of rotten eggs, you will probably be passing the sixth hour science classes. A biology class might be dissecting worms or a chemistry class might be performing an experiment.

Seventh hour social studies includes American history and government for eighth and ninth graders in their homerooms. Sophomores and juniors may end their day in a world history class studying Russia while juniors and seniors might see a film on the Civil War in their American history classes. Advanced senior students may finish their day by studying delinquency, family problems, or world peace in their advanced social studies or sociology classes.

During eighth hours, junior high students go on to their last class which might be shop for eighth grade boys and homemaking for eighth grade girls. Freshmen and some eighth graders finish the day with a splash of paint in art class. Senior high students go to various after-school club meetings as Shutterbugs, and the F.T.A.

CHIEF CHA-CHA CHARLIE, one-time activities chief at Cahokia High School, on returning to the reservation, finds Comanches, after a tired tedious day of brain work, relieving their tensions by participating in group functions. We look to these activities as aids in developing social consciousness.

The Chief discovers some of the group functions in operation during the noon hour as well as after school. He feels much at home in witnessing the proceedings of a noontime meeting of the student council of which he was once president, but winces at the announcement that only a half-hour remains for eating lunch. His tour in the evening reveals an active group of girls playing in the gym. A more careful inspection discloses the preparation of an evening meal by another active club, though his attention is attracted to a group of FHA'ers eagerly scanning pages of a Council Ring just delivered from the printer.

As Chief Cha-Cha Charlie journeys through the club section, he recalls the pleasant memories of his own engagements in school activities. The Chief is your guide for the present activities at Cahokia High.

Queen Janet Weber

'Rhapsody in Blue'

Living in a musical realm the junior class with their invited guests, the senior class of 1958, held a beautiful dance which the junior class captioned as "Rhapsody in Blue."

The evening began with a mass array of beautifully dressed young ladies dancing with their partners under the blue sparkles given off by the "crystalette" chandelier. The music flowed from the Harry Lewis orchestra. Dennis Reed acted as master of ceremonies welcoming the guests and announcing the entrances of the 1957-58 prom queen and her attendants. Janet Weber of the 1958 class was chosen Prom Queen. She was escorted by Jim Bonnefield. Queen Janet was officially crowned by retiring queen, Pat Burns. Pat was escorted by Jerry Groves.

The Queen's attendants were Sharon Ripplinger escorted by Merle Smith; Jo Ann Bess escorted by Louie Biggs; Sally Petterson escorted by Gary Chaney; and Sharon Duckworth escorted by Larry Wheeler. The crown bearers were Mary and Mark Konya.

Queen Janet was dressed in a full-length, white ruffled formal with red streamers. She led the court dance with her chosen song "Moments to Remember."

'Autumn Leaves' chosen theme

The highlight of the 1958 football season was the big homecoming game on October 24, when the Cahokia Comanches were hosts to the Roxana Shells. This year the celebration began on Thursday evening with the traditional bonfire and a new event, the snake dance, that was added this year.

The climax of the gay affair came on the following night when the Student Council sponsored the annual Homecoming Dance. The gym was beautifully decorated with autumn colors which blended well with the season. The throne was decorated with a large tree silhouetted against a sunset. The chosen theme for the dance was "Autumn Leaves," and the music was furnished by The Continentals.

At the climax of the evening, the 1957 retiring queen, Sandra Carr, was escorted to the throne by Don Derossett. Succeeding the retiring queen came the 1958 court: Betty Arnold escorted by Ray Hubbard; Carol Mudd escorted by Dennis Nealson; Carol McAllister escorted by Gary Simmons; Sally Petterson escorted by Gary Chaney; and Sheri Hedricks escorted by Harry Rayfield. After several quiet and tense moments, the 1958 Queen, Beverly Wyrick, was escorted to the throne by Herby Rainbolt.

Queen Judy Neuf

FHA presented 'Sleigh Bells'

The Future Homemakers of America presented their pre-Christmas dance December 13. This year's theme was "Sleigh Bells." The gym was decorated in traditional Christmas colors.

Judy Neuf was crowned FHA Sweetheart of 1958 by retiring queen, Pat Fannin Duff. Queen Judy, carrying a bouquet of red roses, wore a pale pink embroidered tafetta dress and was escorted by Denny Baldridge. Pat, escorted by Jerry Duff, wore a belle gown of red velvet.

The attendants were introduced by William Gordon, chapter father, who was dressed as Santa Claus. Sandra Gordon in white and gold was escorted by Herbert Garland; Verene Babinsky, wearing red taffetta, was escorted by Ronnie Busche; Dale Armistead escorted Loretta Weiss, who wore a blue tafetta dress; and Barbara Stillman, Maid-of-Honor, wore white brocade with a red sash and was escorted by Bill Buatte. Each attendant carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums.

Queen Judy chose "Stardust" for her dance. Phil Norman and his band provided the music.

Dogpatch County Fair

The "Hillbilly Holiday" was held March 8 in the High School Gymnasium. Students clad in their dogpatch outfits entered the gym by climbing on their hands and knees up and down the stairs through a clown's mouth. The Sadie Hawkins dance was sponsored by the Girls' Athletic Association and directed by their new sponsor, Miss Martha Speer. Irma Hoffman and Louise Dick were the co-chairman of the dance, and Pat Ross and Sally Petterson were the co-chairman of the decoration committee.

Loretta Van Huss and Bill Childers received the prize for being the most "hillbilly couple." For the "best-dressed Sadie" of the dance Jeanne Simmons was chosen, and Harry Rayfield was chosen as the "hillbilly guy."

Escorted by Lyle Wilson, Louise Dick as the Sadie Hawkins Queen of 1959 was crowned by Sally Petterson, last year's maid of honor. Those in the court were Carol McAlister escorted by Gary Simmons; Joyce Hayes escorted by Larry McDowell; Joyce Brown escorted by Norman Becker; and Sue Weber, maid of honor, escorted by Merle Smith. Gene Clever's band played for the dance.

Council held Homecoming

Every Tuesday at eleven o'clock the Senior High Student Council reported to room 202A for another meeting. For the next thirty minutes after coming to order the members discussed the problems and important events of Cahokia High.

This year the Student Council sponsored the Homecoming Parade and Dance. The Homecoming through the added efforts of all the students was a greater success than any previous homecoming, although the football game was recorded as a loss. The Council's money-raising campaigns supported a Student Council Scholarship Fund.

In August delegates were sent to a convention in Southern Illinois University. And in April a delegation of members was taken to the Illinois State Student Council Convention in Chicago. The Student Council is sponsored by Mr. Arthur Hinson.

National Honor Society

The 1958-59 Cahokia Chapter of the National Honor Society represented the ninth generation of this distinguished organization on the Comanche grounds. One may not be a participant in the National Honor Society unless he is a junior or senior. He must display the qualities of leadership, citizenship, outstanding scholastic attitude and achievement before earning a recommendation by the faculty by whom he has been taught.

The 1958-59 officers are: Sandra Gordon, President; Gary Simmons, Vice-President; Shirley Durment, Secretary; and Mike McDaniel, Treasurer. Mr. LeRoy Sachs is the adviser.

Quill and Scroll Chapter

Outstanding representatives from the Cahochron and Council Ring staffs received the high honor of becoming members of the Carl Sandburg chapter of Quill and Scroll this year. In order to become members of this organization the students need to maintain a high grade average along with exceptional work on a school publication. Such work can be in writing, editing, headlining, planning layouts and photography.

Those staff members who received membership this year from their work on the Cahochron staff were Sharon Brown, Judy Farmer, Joyce Brown, Dennis Reed and Bill Childers. Those members from the Council Ring staff who received membership were Barbara Williamson, Karen White, Gary Simmons, Ed Hudlin and Don Taylor.

School news once per month

While looking at a Council Ring students generally saw only printed sheets of school news. They did not see all the work that went on "behind the scenes" to help our newspaper to continue to be worthy of the international first place award granted it by Quill and Scroll last year.

Every Monday night from three to four o'clock Barbara Williamson, Editor-in-chief, conducted a staff meeting with Mr. Raynold Bertrand, adviser, looking on. Peeking through the keyhole of this room during various meetings we might have seen that everyone was busy.

Looking in about the middle of the month one saw reporters writing their stories. At the same meeting proofreaders were correcting finished copy. Near the end of the month one might have observed page editors, who were busy planning the next issue. As the last school day of the month rolled around, the completed issue came out.

FHA exhausted social calendar

The Future Homemakers of America started the year with their annual Kitchen Ranger Party. The party was given to acquaint the new members with the old members. Because the Homecoming festivities were scheduled for October the FHA had a bake sale to raise money for their float. The theme of the float was "The Eight Purposes of FHA."

The parents of the FHA girls had an occasion to become acquainted at a special event in November called the Ozark Jubilee. Also in this month the FHA members started planning for the Christmas dance that was to be held in December. The theme of the dance was "Sleigh Bells." The colors with which the gym was decorated were blue and silver. At the dance Judy Neuf was crowned the FHA Sweetheart of 1958-59.

In January the FHA had another bake sale the proceeds of which were used to give a dinner for the Zinc Credit Union. Daddy Date Night was held in February. A dinner for the mothers of FHA members was given in March, and a variety of entertainment for the mothers was provided by FHA members.

FHA birthday week was in April. The girls wore a red and white ribbon to show that it was a special event. Civil Defense was stressed by the girls to try to help the community establish a Civil Defense Program.

GAA held Sadie Hawkins Dance

The Girls Athletic Association of Cahokia had its regular meetings every Tuesday afternoon from three to five o'clock. Their meetings are composed of one hour of business and one hour of intramurals. The girls are divided into teams: The Mermaids, the Bravettes, the Cut-ups, the Hep-cats, Cuties, and the Glamazons. The teams compete against each other in such sports as basketball, softball, and volleyball. The winning team receives its name inscribed on a gold plaque. For the past two years the Bravettes have held this honor. This year something new was added in the way of sports. The girls individually participated in various games. The purpose of individual sports such as these is to help the girl become better qualified in the certain field.

In the activity world of Cahokia, G. A. A. played a big part. They sponsored various activities such as the annual Sadie Hawkins Dance, the Box Social, and the Comanche Hops, which are dances after football and basketball games.

At the end of the year the girls are awarded special awards for their work in G. A. A. The sponsors of the organization were Miss Marie Mosby and Miss Martha Spear.

F.T.A. adopted a new class

The Future Teachers of America spent a very busy year engaged in a variety of activities ranging from baby sitting to teaching. The activity most enjoyed by all was the adoption of a group of exceptional children taught by Mrs. Ruth Trigg in Jerome School. Later in the year a group of F.T.A.'ers attended the F.T.A. conventions in East St. Louis and St. Louis.

All of the members had an opportunity to gain experience through teaching in the grade schools of District No. 187. Funds were raised for the annual spring trip to an Illinois College by babysitting for the Parent Teacher Association, sponsoring a hop, and selling school pennants. The adviser for these busy F.T.A.'ers was Miss Helen Dunn.

Pretty smiles, high steps, and white boots

The Cahokia Rockettes, a dance and drill team, marched under the direction of Miss Sybil Charon, a physical education instructor. This team held their practices each Monday evening in the gymnasium.

The Rockettes participated in the Homecoming Parade with their float, "Autumn Leaves," placing third, and they presented half-time entertainment during the football game. They also performed for many interested spectators at other home football and basketball games. In the spring a pot-luck was given for the members in the Co-Recreation Room. And, also in the spring, the Rockettes took a one-day tour and performed their marching and dancing feats at other neighboring schools.

Seniors presented two plays

On Thursday and Friday, April 11 and 12, the senior class of 1958 presented two one-act plays, This Way to Heaven and Sunday Costs Five Pesos.

This Way to Heaven was a comedy fantasy, which featured an angel who had come back to earth to try to persuade an old lady, who was a good cook, to go back to heaven with him and cook for his section.

Sunday Costs Five Pesos takes place in the Mexican town of Four Cornstalks; it is the story of a fiery-tempered girl, Bertha, who thinks her boy friend, Tidel, has fallen for another girl, Celestina.

The acting in Sunday Costs Five Pesos was performed by Verlin Pendegras, Sharon Shaffer, Clara Jones Thomas, Pat Duncan and Pat Hubbs. In This Way To Heaven Hilda Padgett, Linda Bradley, Mike Ehrstein and David Weimer played the roles.

The two dramas were presented in the gymnasium of the Maplewood Elementary School. The plays were directed by Mr. Charles Mayer and Mrs. Catherine Black, English and foreign language instructors.

Library Club is newly formed in Cahokia High

The Library Club is an organization sponsored by Mrs. Vida Hunter and is made up of twenty-five students who wish to learn the duties of being a librarian. These assistant librarians work during their free periods and no credit is received from this work.

The club schedules their meetings after school on the second and fourth Wednesday of each month. Many of the creative bulletin board displays were made by these students. Their other duties are to file cards, shelve books and prepare books for shelving.

Mathematics Club

The Mu Alpha Theta is composed of students with a high mathematical ability. It is a national honorary society whose purpose is to stimulate interest and understanding in mathematics. In order to be selected for this club the student must have had one year of algebra, one year of geometry, and must be enrolled in a second year of algebra. He must have a high "B" average in his mathematics courses, and in all other subjects taken in high school he must have a "B" average. The Mu Alpha Theta is advised by Mr. LeRoy Sachs.

Shutterbugs do their best work in darkness

The Shutterbugs this year combined all of their energy and knowledge in friendly competition with thousands of other high school students in a national photographic contest. In the past years Bob Ledbetter won a ten-dollar award and Larry Oden won a certificate of merit for their pictures entered in the contest.

Besides entering a photo contest, the shutterbugs went on field trips and made their own cameras out of cardboard under the direction of Mr. B. H. Franklin, Adviser.

Cahokia's "C" Club

The "C" Club, sponsored by Coach John Dal Santo, is an organization consisting of boys who have won a varsity letter in any athletic sport. The function of the Club is to establish harmony between student body and members of various athletic teams whose interests are in establishing good sportsmanship.

Meetings are held once every month usually on the second or third Wednesday of the month. One of their main activities this year was a contribution of money to the Centerville Khoury League.

F.N.A. organize new club

A new club added this year to the school's extracurricular activities was the Future Nurses of America. The sponsor of this organization was Mrs. Irene Adams, school nurse; the co-sponsor was Miss Enola Shearer, assistant guidance counselor.

The club first met on December 12 of this year. Officers were elected and plans of future activities were discussed. Dorothy Pirtle served as President of the organization, and other officers elected were Mary Jane Byram, Vice-President; Wayne Mathison, Treasurer; and Carol McAlister, Secretary.

The purpose of the club is to recruit more nurses. Any girl or boy with a "C" average and an interest in becoming either a registered or practical nurse may become a member of the club.

In order to earn a F. N. A. pin one must spend thirty hours helping the nurse. In this way not only is assistance given the nurse but necessary experiences have been allowed the members.

The initiation was held in January for new officers and members. During the ceremony, to which interested citizens and members of the high school were invited, Mrs. Adams placed a nurse's cap on the head of each person being initiated.

Special honors won at Cahokia

Sandra Gordon

Sharon Brown

Sandra Gordon, senior, was awarded a Homemaking of Tomorrow Pin for winning the Cahokia Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow Award. Sandra won the pin by recording the highest score in the examination given to the contestants. This examination was based on family budgeting, meal planning, home decorating, child caring, and general information concerning homemaking.

By vote of the senior class and the faculty the 1959 Daughters of American Revolution Good Citizen Award was given to Sharon Brown, a graduating senior at Cahokia. The names of the three girls receiving the highest votes by the senior class were submitted to the faculty, and Sharon was chosen the most outstanding. This award was based on dependability, service, leadership and patriotism.

Federal legislation passed in 1957 made it possible for academically talented seniors throughout the State to obtain scholarships to attend an Illinois college or university of their choice. Candidates were selected largely on the basis of test scores produced on a special test given for the purpose of granting the awards.

Four boys, Gary Simmons, Bill Childers, Ed Hudlin and Bruce Frommel, from Cahokia became semi-finalists in the scholarship awards. Three of these boys, Simmons, Hudlin and Frommel, have been awarded scholarships after satisfactorily completing the tests and meeting the State requirements.

The seventy-three members of the Cahokia High Band have climbed another rung on their ladder of success. The band, under the direction of Colonel Billy Cohlmeyer and Mr. Robert Yung, added their pep notes to the half-time of three football games and played the National Anthem before game time. Led by high-stepping majorettes under the direction of Judy Gregory, drum majorette, the marching band led the CHS homecoming parade on October 24.

In December, the band played the processional, recessional, and a small concert at the graduation ceremonies at Park's Air College. Afterwards, many compliments were received from various professional members of the audience.

Many band members attended the County Band Festival held at Mascoutah, Illinois, on February 5. The students spent the day practicing with 300 other band members from various schools. Later in the

The IHSA district solo and ensemble contest was held on March 28. Many members made "First" ratings and were allowed to compete in the state contest at Charleston on April 17. The entire band participated in the State Band Contest at Charleston on April 18.

A spring concert featuring the band and chorus was given in May. The graduating seniors of both organizations were recognized at this concert. On May 24, the band played at the Baccalaureate exercises, and on May 28, they played for CHS' graduation ceremonies.

From the ranks of the band, a special group was selected to add pep notes and swing notes to school functions. This was the Cahokia High Dance Band. The band, under the direction of Mr. Billy Cohlmeyer, entertained at basketball games and pep assemblies.

The CHS mixed chorus, under the direction of Mr. Frank Daniels, displayed their singing voices on numerous occasions throughout the year. Their musical assemblies at the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter seasons were warmly welcomed by the student body. In December, the vocal department presented a Christmas concert for the parents and friends. Many choral members participated in the annual music festival at Mascoutah, on February 5, and all attended the state contest at Eastern Illinois University in Charleston, Illinois.

Another outstanding club at Cahokia is the Girls' Glee Club. They, too, took part in the spring concerts and contests. Mr. Frank Daniels directed the group.

The girls' octet added their voices to all the programs of the vocal department. They also sang at P. T. A. dinners and at the FHA Daddy Date night in February.

This year a new group was introduced, a boys' quartet. These four boys harmonized in a grand style to many songs, both old and new. Another new ensemble which began this year was the madrigal group. The songs sung by this group were of old folktune nature, and they were sung without accompaniment.

Two talented musical functions at Cahokia are the Junior High School Band under the direction of Mr. Russell Hammerschmidt, and the Junior High School Chorus, under the direction of Mr. Frank Daniels.

The band has an enrollment of 95 student musicians who are instructed in percussion by Miss Rosellen Hoerr, a grade school classroom music teacher; in woodwinds by Mr. Robert Yung, an instructor of high school band students; and in brass by Mr. Charles Cappellin and Mr. Russell Hammerschmidt.

The chorus was composed of 69 ninth grade students from two separate classes. Helen Hosler, a junior in high school, helped them at the piano, but Phyllis Dunn, a ninth grade student, was the regular accompanist.

The chorus participated in the school Thanksgiving program, staged a Christmas story for the Junior High Christmas party, and participated in the Easter program. They concluded the year with a picnic at Forest Park.

Since most of the members of the chorus had no music training for the last two years, this Junior Chorus was a preparatory for the Senior Chorus next year.

Although there were many instances of anxiety and many hours of hard work, none of the junior musicians would have traded their positions. All in all, the Junior High School music department had a very successful and enjoyable year.

F.H.A. and G.A.A. build citizenship for Junior High girls

Junior High Student Council

This year the Junior High Student Council did a splendid job on its various activities. The members of the Council worked hard to get their jobs finished. Their first task was to plan the Junior High Christmas Party. It was a big job, but through the hard work of the council and the guidance of Mr. Austin Mulkey, the adviser, the Party was termed quite a success. And to help the students of the Junior High buy savings bonds, the Student Council sold stamps once a week. The annual Polio Drive also went successfully.

The sports Chief, FIGHTING SPIRIT, is the ultimate symbol of the spirit and courage of the Comanches as they take the field in football, complete a lap in cross country, dribble down the court in basketball, grapple with opponents in wrestling, hit a home run in baseball, or heave the shotput in track.

The chief purposes of athletics are first, to build a spirit of competition and good sportsmanship among the competitors, and, secondly, to defeat opponents in the field of competitive sports. As proof of their successful sports program, which is based primarily on sportsmanship and friendly competition, the Comanches can display a record of ability to win humbly and to accept defeat valiantly.

Although the Comanches may have been excelled in the number of victories, they have never been excelled in fighting spirit and good sportsmanship. In athletics at Cahokia the spirit of competition is keen and the winning spirit is high, but sportsmanship always comes first.

CHIEF FIGHTING SPIRIT is your guide as you turn the pages dedicated to the athletes who represent Cahokia in the various sports activities.

Football highlights of 1958-59

The small but rugged Comanche football team this year compiled the best record of any during the past five years by winning three games, losing five and tying one. Throughout the season the Comanches were somewhat like eleven Davids compared to eleven Goliaths for they were outweighed by at least thirty pounds per man in every game but one. Through fighting hearts and never-failing courage and desire the Comanches however were able to overcome these odds on three occasions and made a conquering team respect them for their spirit and desire to win.

The Comanches started the season with a bang by surprising a big, powerful veteran team, O'Fallon Tech, with hard blocking and tackling and fast running. The Comanches, though outweighed greatly and trailing 6 to 0 at the half, came on with a second-half rally to come up with a 19 to 6 victory in their first role as giant killers.

At Greenville in the second game of the season the Comanches continued their fine play. They played an almost gigantic Greenville team to a 0 to 0 tie. The Comanches almost were giant killers again in this game, for Harry Rayfield, Cahokia Quarterback, completed a pass to Denny Nealson, who went forty yards for a TD, only to have it called back because of an offside penalty.

In the next game the Comanches showed their fight and desire as they fought a strong Madison team evenly throughout the entire game. The Madison Goliaths managed to squeeze out a 6 to 0 victory over the Comanche Davids but were very much relieved when the game was over.

The Comanches waited and finally it came — a team their size. When it came the Comanches showed their strength by spoiling Highland's homecoming by a score of 32 to 7. Willy Young ran wild gaining one hundred yards rushing and earning the title of Prep Player of the Week. Theodis Walker also enjoyed a fine day running. Harry Rayfield, quarterback, and Merle Smith, end, combined to give Cahokia a superb passing combination. Co-Captain Gary Simmons led Cahokia's charging line as they again and again stopped Highland's offense.

Against Roxana after a close, hard-fought first-half the Comanches stumbled. Roxana's size and alertness in the second half turned several Comanche mistakes into TD's giving the Comanches a loss of 39 to 14.

The Comanches slid into the role of giant killers again in their next game as they defeated Shawnee 19 to 6 on a field which was a mass of mud. Shawnee, though much larger in size than the Comanches, could not match the Comanche fight. Co-Captain Gary Simmons led the Comanches to their best line play of the year as they kept Shawnee from scoring more than one touchdown. Cahokia's other Co-Captain, Denny Nealson, also had a good day as he played perhaps the best game of his career as he scored all of Cahokia's nineteen points.

The Cahokia Davids found the Dupo Goliaths, Midwestern Conference Champs, too big and too strong as the Tigers walked off with the Tiganche Trophy by a score of 37 to 6. In this game the Comanches were outweighed by thirty-five pounds per man in the line, but they went down fighting like great Comanches.

In the final game of the year the Comanches were defeated by a score of 27 to 7. As usual the Comanches were outweighed but not outfought. The head coach of football was Mr. John Dal Santo assisted by Mr. Earl Lee. The ninth grade team was coached by Mr. "Pete" Truran.

Thin clads add two trophies

The Comanche thin clads once again continued the traditional winning of the Cahokia Cross Country team with one of their best records:

CAHOKIA	OPPONENTS
17	St. Jacob - 44
21	Madison - 70
	Civic Memorial - 34
38	Dupo - 23
3rd Place	Troy Invitational
4th Place	Dupo Invitational
1st Place	Belleville Invitational
1st Place	Midwestern Conference Meet
8th Place	District

The highlights of the season were the additions of two trophies making the trophy collection of the Comanche thin-men total eleven. The first trophy was won in the Belleville Invitational meet. Nine schools entered the race with fifty-nine runners. Dupo was picked the favorite to win, but the Comanches pulled an upset by winning the meet in which Ed Hudlin, Senior; Larry Hooch, Sophomore; and Jim Arms, Junior; received medals for their efforts.

The second trophy was won at the Midwestern Conference held at Grand Marias State Park. The scores were tallied and it was declared that the Cahokia speedsters had fought to a draw with Dupo for first place and that Cahokia had four men in the first ten.

Congratulations are in order for these hearty hustlers not forgetting the coaching of Frank Lorton who inspired the boys to do their running.

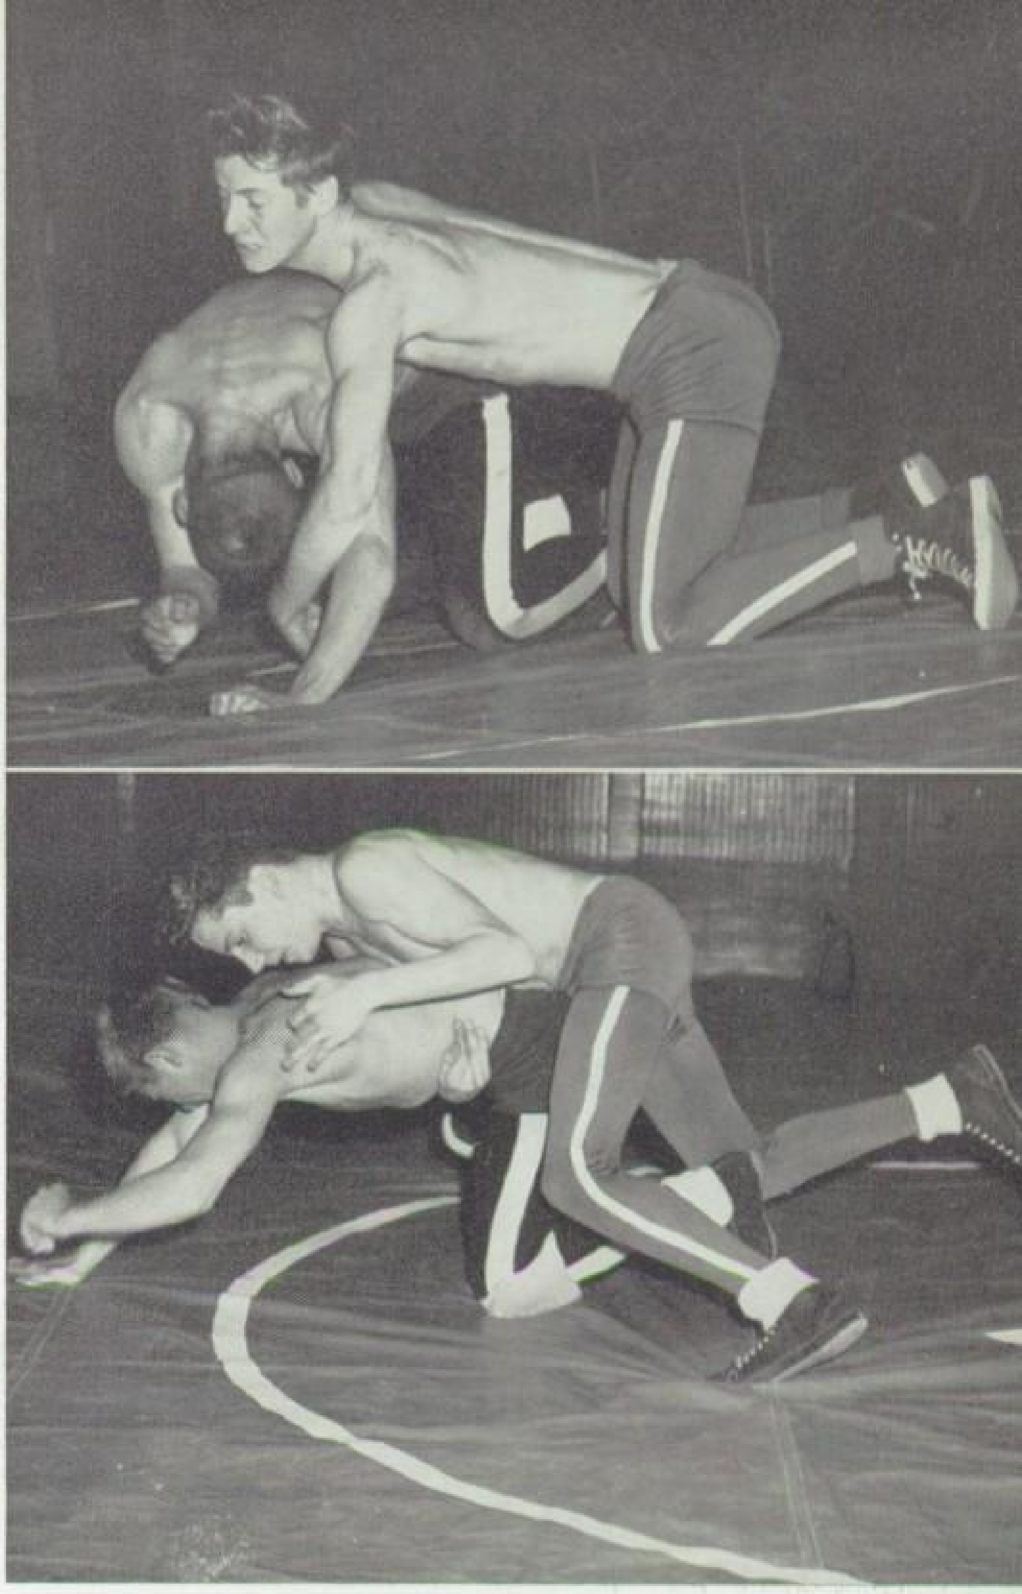
Grapplers topped past records

In beginning the season the team gave a vigorous demonstration by beating Greenville 34-24 for their first victory. They lost the next five matches against Edwardsville 11-38, Belleville 17-29, Vandalia 11-35, Edwardsville 20-22, and Roxana 13-35.

The team began to spark again in the last three matches of the season. They beat Belleville 33-10, which gave them a won-one-lost-one record with Belleville. They tied their next match with Roxana 20-20. In the last match of the season, other than in tournament play, they beat Greenville 30-15. This gave them two wins and no losses with Greenville. During the season the boys racked up three wins, one tie, and five losses.

Although the team proved worthy opponents in all of their matches, the team had a five point disadvantage before they had entered a match. This was due to the team having only eleven boys to fill twelve weight classes, which would make a full team.

The entire team was entered in the District tournament. Four boys, Ed Hudlin, Mike McDaniel, Bill Mulconnery and Grady Hill, placed in this meet qualifying them for the Sectional meet. At Granite City, Hill and McDaniel finished fourth while Hudlin placed second allowing him to enter the State meet. The team was coached by Mr. Eugene Muzzarelli.



Grapplers proved themselves worthy opponents.

Comanches created upsets but lost few games by small margin

The Comanche basketball team this year was a moderately successful one. Although the Comanches came out on the short end of an 8-18 record, they lost only one game that the form charts indicated they should have won. The Comanches, outscored on several occasions, were out of only three ball games all year.

The Comanches made many opponents glad that the final whistle had blown, and some, who were on the short end of the score, unhappy. Of the games they lost eight were lost by ten points or less. Five games were lost by five points or less causing the team to believe that had Lady Luck blessed them a bit more the season's record would indicate many more wins.

In the second game of the season the Comanches made the heavily-favored Carlyle Indians thoroughly happy that the final whistle had blown, because the Comanches played it down to the wire and lost 52-50 on a last-ditch shot by a well-guarded Carlyle player. The team made their first trip to the Quincy Invitational Tournament where in their first game they were so far outsized that they were out of the game from the outset. They lost to the future State Champions, Springfield.

Probably the Comanches' best game of the year was the one in which they defeated Madison, a team destined to make the final eight of the "Sweet Sixteen" in the State Tournament. One of the main highlights of the game was the terrific scoring balance enjoyed by the Comanches. Also, the Comanches showed opponents that they were not a team to be carelessly fouled, as they sank nearly ninety per cent of their foul shots.

In their second contest with Roxana the Comanches caused a lot of near heart attacks in Roxana as they lost by two points in the final seconds of the game.

The Comanches downed an upstart Highland team in a double overtime as Harry Rayfield sank two clutch freethrows after the final horn had sounded to send the game into overtime. Then Jim Odom squelched the fire in the Highland team by adding two points in the sudden death overtime.

In the Comanches' first game with Bethalto Merle Smith sank a thirty-foot jump shot with four seconds to go to beat a rallying Bethalto team that had come from behind to prove their opposition. Cahokia also upset highly-rated Columbia, but lost by three points as a crimson Columbia turned on the steam. And in the last game of the season in the regional tournament the Comanches lost to Lincoln of East St. Louis, the fifth ranked team in the State.

The Comanches had the best freethrow record in the area. Harry Rayfield had the satisfaction of being the area freethrow champion and was the third highest scoring Comanche.

Merle Smith finished second in the area in scoring and third in freethrows. Throughout the season Merle sparked the Comanches to rally with his swishing jump shots. Merle also was elected as a member of the first five of the All Midwestern Conference basketball team.

Playing their first season of varsity ball were Larry Betz, Jim Odom, Ed Davis and Herbie Rainbolt, all of whom did a creditable job of filling the other positions on the team. Ed Davis was a regular throughout the season and was noted as an all-around player. Jim Odom, who started slowly at the first of the season, got up a full head of steam and began rolling through the last half of the season to lead the team in rebounding and to finish second to Smith in scoring. Larry Betz, who started the season as a substitute, gained through hard work a regular berth through the last half of the season. Herbie Rainbolt became Coach Lee's trouble-shooting sixth man, who served as a stabilizer to the Comanches when they were in need of an excellent ball handler and a fast defensive man.

The head strategists for the Comanches were Coaches Earl Lee and "Pete" Truran, both of whom are serving their second year as Cahokia's head basketball and assistant basketball coaches respectively.

Cheerleaders gave team support

The football and basketball teams were faithfully supported by our Comanche cheerleaders. The cheerleaders were at every game cheering their loudest and receiving commendable support from the spectators. At the football games the varsity cheerleaders wore blue slim-jims and white "V" neck sweaters. At the basketball games they wore blue pleated skirts with white sweaters on which is a megaphone with the letter "C." They alternated with the white, leather suits and blue blouses.

The junior varsity cheerleaders performed the cheering at the junior varsity games. They worked hard on their cheers to gain support for their team. The five girls wore blue corduroy ensembles with white blouses. The senior varsity cheerleaders along with the junior varsity cheerleaders conducted all the senior high pep assemblies.

Five ninth grade girls made up the freshman cheering squad. Their cheering and enthusiasm brought a good year for the freshman team. Their uniforms consisted of blue skirts and white blouses, white moccasins and a feathered head band.

The eighth grade cheerleaders wore blue skirts and white blouses. They had a year full of good cheering. These cheerleaders won the attention and enthusiasm of the visiting spectators.

All cheering squads gave considerable effort to improving old cheers and devising new cheers and routines. The cheerleaders were sponsored by Miss Sybil Charon, health and physical education instructor.
